Canada: a place to be for climbing

In the last years, competition climbing has exploded in Canada. There are more and more climbing gyms being built all over the country and competition oriented programs are being structured and developed in schools and different institutions.

"The governance of the sport has also taken a major turn with the creation of provincial organizations, provincial competitions series and the establishment of Climbing Escalade Canada (CEC), a National Sport Organization that is seeking Sport Canada support", says Maria Izquierdo, President of the CEC.

"CEC partners with Provincial Sport Organizations, gym owners and event organizers are willing to provide high quality international events sanctioned by the IFSC. The 2015 International climbing season will be launched in Canada with two major events: The Central Saanich Speed World cup May 16-18 and the Toronto Boulder World cup on May 30-31. An opportunity to cheer the best athletes of the world!" adds Maria Izquierdo.
